

198

[ACL 2026] Decision notification for your submission 543: Logical Consistency via Label Constraint Modeling between Responses and Self-Judgments

ACL 2026 <acl2026-notifications@openreview.net>

Dear Hao Mi,

Congratulations! We are delighted to inform you that your submission to ACL 2026, Logical Consistency as a Bridge: Improving LLI has been accepted for presentation at the Main Conference.

This year, we received 12,148 submissions and accepted 19% of the submissions as Main papers and 18% as Findings.

Camera-Ready Paper Submission

Camera-ready revisions of your paper are due April 19, 2026. Please incorporate the feedback from your final reviews, which can

If you received ethics reviews, please pay particular attention to the reviewers' recommendations when revising your paper.

As usual, camera-ready revisions are allowed one additional page of content (up to 9 pages for long papers, up to 5 pages for short papers for limitations (required) and, optionally, ethical considerations, plus unlimited pages of references and supplemental material

To submit your final camera-ready paper, go to your OpenReview submission page and use the Edit dropdown in the top right to see checklist in the Camera-Ready page, because it will be a part of the published paper. We ask to fill it in again to provide the authors may have changed in the camera-ready version. The checklist PDF will be automatically generated from the camera-ready form data

In-person vs virtual presentation

When submitting your camera ready, please also let us know if you will be presenting your paper in person or virtually. Note that you included in the proceedings.

Conference Participation Information

Please fill out the conference attendance plan and the presentation preference by following this link: <https://forms.cloud.microsoft/r/>

Oral vs. poster presentations

Decisions about oral vs. poster presentations will be made after the camera-ready papers have been submitted. We will then notify